Nature, purpose of the loan and possible durations of the loans proposed :

BNP Paribas International Buyers provides mortgages to consumers who are "non-residents" of France and to French civil law special purpose property companies whose shareholders are non-residents of France. These loans are intended to finance the following operations:

- Purchase of main or second home or "buy-to-let", property in mainland France, whether already built or new property;

- Renovating works;
- Refinance (funds used for early repayment of an existing housing loan);
- Alternative security (purchase of a property abroad with mortgage taken on a residential property in mainland France);
- Post-finance (financing the purchase of a property, or works, subsequently and within specific deadlines);
- Bridging loan (total or partial advance of the sale proceeds of a property to finance the purchase of another before the sale of the first property), accompanied by a long-term loan to finance the purchase of a property.

Depending on the purpose and type of finance, the duration of the loan varies from 7 to 25 years (excepting for bridging loans).

The notion of non-residence is based in particular on the borrower's tax residence, depending on the lender's lending policy.

The borrowing rate :

The borrowing rate may be fixed or variable :

- Fixed rate : the rate is fixed throughout the duration of the loan contract.
- Variable rate : the rate is indexed on the 3 month Euribor rate.
 - o In the case of a repayment loan, the rate adjustments are applied to the loan as from the second year of the contract, then on each of its anniversary dates. The rate adjustment applies, in the event of an increase, in priority on the duration, then on the monthly instalment; and, in the event of a decrease, exclusively on the duration.
 - o In the case of an "interest only" loan, the monthly instalments are adjusted quarterly, depending on the rate variations. The duration of the loan determined on conclusion of the contract, remains constant.
- Capped variable rate : the mechanism is identical to that of the variable rate, with nevertheless a first period of fixed duration during which the rate is subject to a ceiling. This ceiling and this duration are expressly defined in the loan contract. In the event of a rate reduction, the whole decrease is applied to the loan.

In all cases, when the borrowing rate is variable, the borrower may ask to switch to a fixed rate (except, according to the case, for the period in which the rate is capped). The fixed borrowing rate shall then be calculated in accordance with the contractual provisions.

Type of security possible to cover the loan contract :

All BNP Paribas International Buyers loans are secured, the nature of the security being determined after the file has been studied.

This security may be :

- A first ranking mortgage charge

This is a contractual mortgage charge (hypothèque conventionnelle) and/or a money lender's preferential right (privilege de prêteur de deniers).

They are recorded in a notarial deed and registered at the land charges registry. The costs are paid by the borrower.

These mortgage charges are tangible security which confer on the lender a preferential right and a right to realise the security. Thus, in the event of default, they enable the lender to repossess the property, to have it sold and be repaid from the sale proceeds in priority to other creditors.

- The money lender's preferential right may only be taken when financing the purchase of a house or flat already built, or land.

- The contractual mortgage charge is taken on a property which the borrower already owns or acquires via the secured loan for the part which finances the construction of the building, works or the purchase of a property "off-plan".

The mortgage charge lasts for the duration of the loan. The borrower may however, subject to certain conditions, have it cancelled.

- A guarantee

Guarantee given by the professional guarantee institution, "Crédit Logement" with whom the lender is in partnership.

This specialised institution issues a guarantee, subject to certain conditions, on behalf of the borrower, undertaking to repay the sums due to the lender in the event of default.

The borrower has to pay a subscription into a mutual guarantee fund (which will possibly be partly refunded at the end of the loan) and a guarantee fee and, depending on the case, an arrangement fee. In the event of arrears, the lender asks the institution to pay on behalf of the borrower. The institution then seeks repayment of the sums concerned from the borrower personally.

Representative example :

Example for mortgage interest rates applicable on 19/03/2019 and subject to variation :
For a repayment mortgage of €200 000, with all funds released at the same time, a duration of 20 years, at the variable rate of 2.05% p.a. (capped + 1 for 7 years then non-capped), the repayment is made in 240 monthly instalments of €1 016.51 excluding life insurance.
Variable Annual Percentage Rate of Charge (APRC) = 2.22%. The borrower must have a French bank account.

The total cost of the loan is €46 691 of which €43 962.26 for interest, €1 228.50 for the notarial loan deed and €1 500 for the arrangement fee. The total amount due by the borrower is €246 691.

Example based on a property-related project, secured by a first ranking mortgage charge in the form of a "money lender's preferential right", intended to finance the purchase of a second home by a person aged 35.

Mortgage proposed in euros and repayable in euros. Therefore, if your income is in another currency, exchange rate fluctuations may modify the total amount due on your loan.

Mortgage granted subject to acceptance of the file by the lender, BNP Paribas Personal Finance. You have a 10-day "cooling off" period before accepting the loan offer. The sale of a property is subject to obtaining the loan necessary for its financing. If the loan is refused, the lender is obliged to reimburse the sums paid.

Possible extra costs, not included in those of the loan, to be paid in connection with the loan :

Some after-sales services may be invoiced in compliance with the tariffs applicable, detailed in the document "Our management service fees" available on the site: https://international-buyers.bnpparibas.com/documents/77901/86014/TARIFICATION_AG_BNPP_IB.pdf or on request.

Methods of repayment and early repayment :

Range of possible methods of repayment

o Date and periodicity

The first repayment instalment is payable after the first release of funds, excepting the case of total deferment.

The repayment instalments are monthly and payable on the date determined by the borrower. The amount of the repayment instalments varies according to the amount of the loan, its duration and type of repayment.

The repayment methods detailed in this section constitute the various options which may be proposed to the borrower, depending on their project and subject to the lender's assessment.

o Types of repayment which may be proposed depending on the project

- Repayment loan : the capital borrowed is repaid progressively throughout the duration of the loan (specific methods of repayment may apply in the case of deferment). Each instalment is thus composed partly of the capital borrowed and partly of interest. The life insurance premium is added to this instalment when the borrower has taken out the group insurance policy proposed by the lender.

-> Possible option: the repayment loan with a declining fold : it is a fixed repayment loan comprising two periods : a first period with a higher monthly payment and a second period with a lower monthly payment.

- Interest only loan : only the interest is paid on each instalment, the capital borrowed is repaid in totality at the end of the loan. When the borrower takes out the group life insurance proposed by the lender, the premium is debited throughout the duration of the loan.

- Mixed loan (50/50) : part of the finance is through a repayment loan, the other part is interest only. Two loan offers are issued; the instalments are debited at the same date.

- Deferment

For some types of operation, deferment periods may be allowed, according to the contractual conditions.

For a period up to 84 months from the first release of funds :

- either the monthly instalments are deferred in totality (up to 24 months maximum) to the end of the deferment period;

- or only the interest is paid each month during the deferment period, the capital will be repaid during the remaining duration of the loan.

Whatever the type of deferment, in the case of taking out the optional insurance proposed by the lender, the insurance premium is debited during the deferment.

o Possible modification options during the life of the contract

- On request, and after the lender's agreement, the borrower may benefit from five ("repayment holidays") throughout the duration of the contract (except for bridging loans). On these "repayment holidays", the borrower only pays the life insurance premium in the event of having taken out the optional life insurance proposed by the lender.

- The borrower may also increase or decrease the instalments, subject to contractual conditions (except for interest only loans).

- Early repayment conditions

Total or partial repayment of the loan, at the borrower's initiative, is possible at all times.

Each partial early repayment must be for at least 10% of the capital borrowed. Partial early repayment has the effect of reducing either the monthly instalment or the duration of the loan.

- When the borrowing rate is fixed, the amount of compensation due is equal to six months' interest, at the average rate of the loan. It is calculated on the amount of capital repaid, and, in compliance with the law, is limited to 3% of the outstanding capital before the early repayment.

Moreover, in certain cases defined by law (e.g. change of place of work for the borrower), no compensation for the early repayment is due.

- When the borrowing rate is variable, there is no compensation due, except in the of having switched to a fixed rate.

Property valuation :

When underwriting loan applications, and depending on the type of operation, the lender may require a valuation of the property to be taken as security by an independent valuer chosen by the lender. Among the independent valuers, the lender uses the services of BNP Paribas Real Estate Valuation France or SEREXIM to carry out these valuations. The valuation costs are paid by the lender.

Obligatory ancillary services :

Borrower's life insurance

Nil.

General warning concerning the consequences of non-respect of the obligations linked to the loan contract :

A loan is binding on the borrower and must be repaid.

In the event of the borrower's default, the lender may pursue recovery of the sums due in the conditions provided in the loan contract.

It may demand the immediate repayment of the outstanding capital plus the accrued but unpaid interest; and payment of compensation of 7%, calculated on the balance due. If the lender does not demand the immediate repayment of the outstanding capital, the loan interest rate is increased by 3% until normal payment is resumed.

Moreover, the security taken may be realised.

Furthermore, in the event of flagrant payment default, certain information concerning the borrower may be transmitted to the central register of payment defaults by private individuals held by the Bank of France (F.I.C.P.)
